Christle, Heather	The Crying Book	9781948226448	35.95	Award-winning poet Heather Christle has just lost a dear friend to suicide and must reckon with her own struggles with depression and the birth of her first child. Told in short, poetic snippets, this book delights and surprises, as well as rigorously examines how mental illness can affect a family across generations and how crying can express women's agency - or lack of agency - in everyday life. Christle's gift is the freshness of her voice and honesty of her approach, both of which create an intimacy with readers as she explores a human behaviour broadly experienced but rarely questioned. Cole, Will	The Inflammation Spectrum: Find Your Food Triggers and Reset Your System	9780735220089	36.00	From the bestselling author of "Ketotarian," Dr. Will Cole's game-changing new book will show readers how inflammation is at the core of most common health woes and exists on a continuum. How you feel is constantly and dynamically being influenced by every meal. Every food you eat is either feeding inflammation or fighting it. Because no one else is you, the foods that work well for someone else may not be right for your body. At heart, this is about learning to love your body enough to nourish it with delicious, healing foods.	Dietetics (Applied Nutrition)	HC
Collins, Gail	No Stopping Us Now: A History of Older Women in America	9780316286541	38.00	In her lively social history of North American women and aging, acclaimed columnist Gail Collins illustrates the ways in which age is an arbitrary concept that has swung back and forth over the centuries. From Plymouth Rock, to recent decades when freedom from striving in the workplace and caretaking at home is often celebrated, to the first female nominee for president, North American attitudes towards age have been a moving target. Collins gives a lively, fascinating, eye-opening look at women and aging in America. Print run 100,000.	Women Studies	HC

Gladwell, Malcolm	Talking to Strangers: What We Should Know about the People We Don't Know	9780316478526	36.99	Malcolm Gladwell offers a powerful examination of our interactions with strangers - and why they often go wrong. This is a classically Gladwellian intellectual adventure, a challenging and controversial excursion through history, psychology, and scandals taken straight from the news. Something is very wrong, Gladwell argues, with the tools and strategies we use to make sense of people we don't know. And because we don't know how to talk to strangers, we are inviting conflict and misunderstanding in ways that have a profound effect on our lives and our world. Print run 1,500,000.		HC

Goodwin, Debi	A Victory Garden for Trying Times: A Memoir	9781459745056	21.99	Debi's husband, Peter, was diagnosed with cancer in November 2015. Too late in the season to seek solace in gardening. Debi came across victory gardens - the vegetable gardens cultivated during the world wars to fight hunger and hold on to hope. When Peter died suddenly of a heart attack, the garden was a reminder that everything ends. For weeks, she hated the garden until she could finally return to tending it, allowing her grief to crack open. This is a journey through a year of love and despair, and a testament to healing in the natural cycles of the earth. Residence: Toronto, ON.	Canadian/	TP

Leonard, Christopher	Kochland: The Secret History of Koch Industries and Corporate Power in America	9781476775388	47.00	The annual revenue of Koch Industries is bigger than that of Goldman Sachs, Facebook, and U.S. Steel combined. Koch is everywhere. But few people know much about Koch Industries and that's because the billionaire Koch brothers want it that way. Seven years in the making, this book tells the ambitious tale of how one private company consolidated power over half a century - and how in doing so, it helped transform capitalism into something that feels deeply alienating to many North Americans today. Lessig, Lawrence	They Don't Represent Us: Reclaiming Our Democracy	9780062945716	33.50	Harvard Law professor Lawrence Lessig charts the way in which the fundamental institutions of our democracy, including especially our media, respond to narrow interests rather than to the needs and wishes of the nation's citizenry. The problem is also "us." "We the people" are increasingly uninformed about the issues, while ubiquitous political polling exacerbates the problem, reflecting and normalizing our ignorance and feeding it back into the system as representative of our will. This is a soul-searching and incisive examination of our failing political culture. Print run 75,000.	Political science	HC

Lloyd, Tessa	Forty Fathers: Men Talk About Parenting	9781771622431	34.95	When Tessa Lloyd's sons-in-law became fathers, she searched for resources that would help guide them - especially parenting stories from other fathers. However, that book didn't seem to exist. Seeing a need, Lloyd decided to gather these stories herself. Lloyd collects the stories and portraits of forty Canadian fathers who open up about both their own fathers and their deeply personal parenting experiences. The stories are extraordinarily candid and vulnerable, as the fathers describe their own failings, regrets and childhood traumas, as well as the humbling process of trying to do better. Raza, Azra	The First Cell: And the Human Costs of Pursuing Cancer to the Last	9781541699526	35.00	Professor of Medicine and Director, MDS Center at Columbia University. Azra Raza offers a searing account of how both medicine and our society (mis)treats cancer, how we can do better, and why we must. A lyrical journey from hope to despair and back again, Raza explores cancer from every angle: medical, scientific, cultural, and personal. This is no ordinary book of medicine, but a book of wisdom and grace by an author who has devoted her life to making the unbearable easier to bear. Print run 50,000.		HC
Reilly, John	Bad Law: Rethinking Justice for a Postcolonial Canada	9781771603348	25.00	Building on his previous two books, "Bad Medicine" and "Bad Judgment," John Reilly acquaints the reader with the ironies and futilities of an approach to justice so adversarial and dysfunctional that it often increases crime rather than reducing it. He examines the radically different indigenous approach to wrongdoing, which is restorative rather than retributive, founded on the premise that people are basically good and wrongdoing is the aberration, not that humans are essentially evil and have to be deterred by horrendous punishments. Residence: Calgary, AB.	Canadian/Canada	TP
Ridgeley, Andrew	WHAM!, George Michael, and Me: A Memoir	9781524745318	36.00	For the first time, Andrew Ridgeley - one half of one of the most famous bands in the world - tells the inside story of Wham!, his lifelong friendship with George Michael, and the formation of a band that changed the shape of the music scene in the early eighties. Andrew's memoir covers in wonderful detail those years, up until that last iconic concert: the scrapes, the laughs, the relationships, the good, and the bad. It's a unique and one-and-only time to remember that era, that band, and those boys.	Songs	HC

Rosen, Amy	Kosher Style: Over 100 Jewish Recipes for the Modern Cook	9780525609889	35.00	In the Jewish culture, as in many others, bubbes, saftas and nanas are the matriarchs of the kitchen and thus the rulers of the roost. That's what prompted Amy Rosen to spirit the classic recipes from her grandmothers and other role models into the 21st century. All of the dishes in this book are inspired by the tables and tales and chutzpah of the Jewish experience. From crave-worthy snacks to family-size salads, soulful mains to show-stopping desserts, all of the recipes are doable in the home kitchen and are clearly marked as either a meat dish, dairy dish, or pareve (neutral). Sandford, Robert William	Rain Comin' Down: Water, Memory and Identity in a Changed World	9781771603171	22.00	Robert Sandford has spent a lot time watching and thinking about water because the importance of water gradually caught up with who he was and what he was doing with his life. As this self-reflective book demonstrates, when one takes up the serious study of water, one cannot but be surprised at how far that interest can take you: from the very origins of the cosmos right down to the unique structure and remarkable qualities of water as a molecule. This is an intimate look at what drives one man's obsession with the world's most precious resource. Residence: Canmore, AB.	Canadian/Geology, hydrology, meterology	TP
Savage, Candace	Strangers in the House: A Prairie Story of Bigotry and Belonging	9781771642040	32.95	Napoléon Sureau dit Blondin built a house in Saskatoon in the 1920s, an era when French-speakers like him were deemed "undesirable" by the political and social elite, who sought to populate the Canadian prairies with WASPs only. Renowned author Candace Savage scours public records and historical accounts and interviews several of Napoléon's descendants to reveal a family story marked by challenge and resilience. In the process, she examines a troubling episode in Canadian history, one with surprising relevance today. Residence: Saskatoon, SK.	Canadian/Canada	HC
Savoie, Donald J.	Democracy in Canada: The Disintegration of Our Institutions	9780773559028	34.95	Arguing that Canadians must reconsider the origins of their country in order to understand why change is difficult and why they continue to embrace regional identities, Donald J. Savoie explains how Canada's national institutions were shaped by British historical experiences, and why there was little effort to bring Canadian realities into the mix. A masterwork analysis, Savoie investigates the forces shaping the workings of Canadian federalism and the country's national political and bureaucratic institutions. Hometown: Moncton, N.B. Eason, K.	How Rory Thorne Destroyed the Multiverse: Book One of the Thorne Chronicles	9780756415297	35.00	First in a duology introduces Rory Thorne, a princess with thirteen fairy blessings. As the eldest daughter, she always imagined she'd inherit her father's throne and govern the interplanetary Thorne Consortium. Then her father is assassinated, her mother gives birth to a son, and Rory is betrothed to the prince of a distant world. This is a feminist reimagining of familiar fairytale tropes and a story of resistance and self-determination - how small acts of rebellion can lead a princess to not just save herself, but change the course of history. Hill, Sarah	This Is Your Brain on Birth Control: The Surprising Science of Women, Hormones, and the Law of Unintended Consequences	9780525536031	36.00	This groundbreaking book sheds light on how hormonal birth control affects women - and the world around them. Sex hormones impact the activities of billions of cells in the body at once, many of which are in the brain. This means that being on the birth control pill makes women a different version of themselves than when they are off of it. Additionally, because the pill influences who women are attracted to, being on the pill may inadvertently influence who women choose as partners. This paradigm-shattering book provides an even-handed, science-based understanding of who women are, both on and off the pill.		HC

Richards, David Adams	Murder: And Other Essays	9780385666558	29.95	For one of Canada's preeminent writers, murder is one of David Adams Richards's great subjects. The title of this volume refers to a suite of essays on the subject: a hitchhiker with whom David strikes up an unnerving philosophical debate; the killers of the Miramichi and their victims; the villains of Russian literature; and, forever in David's mind as he examines this grim topic, the self-deception involved in the allure of evil. As a considerable bonus, the book also contains at its midpoint a literary debut: a slim but substantial collection of David's poetry. Residence: Toronto, ON.	Canadian/	HC

Roy, H. K.	American Spy: Wry Reflections on My Life in the CIA	9781633885882	26.50	In a memoir written as a series of narrative vignettes, this candid and darkly witty memoir recounts an exhilarating life - and a few close brushes with death. With remarkable sangfroid and a humorist's eye for absurdity, H.K. Roy describes his many strange and risky exploits in his long career with the CIA. Combining dedication to duty with a maverick's disdain for bureaucracy, Roy sheds much light on why intelligence is an essential component of national defense, even our very survival as a nation.		HC
Russell, Stuart	Human Compatible: Artificial Intelligence and the Problem of Control	9780525558613	37.00	In the popular imagination, superhuman artificial intelligence is an approaching tidal wave that threatens not just jobs and human relationships, but civilization itself. Distinguished AI researcher Stuart Russell argues that this scenario can be avoided, but only if we rethink AI from the ground up. Russell begins by exploring the idea of intelligence in humans and in machines. Russell suggests that we can rebuild AI on a new foundation, according to which machines are designed to be inherently uncertain about the human preferences they are required to satisfy.
